

Node.JS

Ex - Modules

Create a module called "strUtils" which expose a "getLength" function that receives a string and returns its length.

Create another module called "arrUtils" which expose a "getArrLength" function that receives an array of strings and returns the total length of all the strings only by using strUtils module.

Get the total length in the main file of the app.